Celebrating Local Government Week

To help celebrate this year's Local Government Week hundreds of Dalby school children have lent their artist talents to decorate themed displays at Dalby Town Council and Dalby Wambo Library.

Following the theme 'engaging communities', Council staff coordinated with local students who have been studying local government at school to create over 150 brightly painted banners. The banners represent what local government means to the youth of Dalby and will be on display at Council until June 24.

Over 200 entries were also received for Council's colouring-in competition and these are on display at the Dalby Wambo Library.

Council's spokesperson for Community Wellbeing Cr Carolyn Tillman believes that Local Government Week is a great opportunity for local authorities to promote the important role they play in community

"Congratulations to all the children who participated - they've done a great job. I encourage everyone to come and see their wonderful work, both here at Council and the library," said Cr Tillman.

Local Government Week concludes on Sunday June 19 with the Queensland Health walk promotion 'Just Walk It', part sponsored by Dalby Town Council. So why not put on your walking shoes and join the walk leaving Thomas Jack Park, Bunya Street Side at 3pm. A BBQ and refreshments will be enjoyed afterwards.
