Showgrounds Pavilion Takes Shape

Two months after Dalby Town Council began its first major works project as new trustee of the Dalby Showgrounds the final renovations of the pavilion are taking shape.

The construction of an entry deck with a curved awning feature and a covered collection/drop-off point are well underway, with work continuing on roofing and verandah decking.

Inside the building the old wool court and kitchen have been demolished allowing construction to commence on the new kitchen area, bar facilities and toilet amenities.

Council Engineering Technical Officer Steven Forbes is responsible for coordinating the day-to-day operation of the $400K project and works closely with Site Supervisor Wayne McDonald of Skill Centred.

"Working in partnership Skill Centred and their employment program trainees has proven to be a success. Wayne and his trainees are doing a great job."

The completed pavilion will seat 360 people and is on track to meet the October deadline in readiness for this year's Chamber of Commerce Business Excellence Awards.
